Boarding fee/ machine tax bill passed in Jackson

BY TRACI BONNEY

A local and private bill that will give Bay St. Louis more revenue from dockside casinos passed both chambers of the state legislature this week and is being sent to the governor for signing.

House Bill 1675, which will allow the city to charge a boarding fee of up to $2.50 per person and a tax of $100 per gaming machine/device, passed both the House and the Senate almost unanimously, according to Rep. J.P. Compretta and Sen. Vic Frankiewicz. In each chamber, only one legislator voted against the bill.

Compretta said, "I had to do some strong lobbying in both chambers. The bill was originally bogged down in Sonny Meredith's Ways and Means subcommittee. I introduced a new bill which was slightly different, but amounted to the same thing, to get it past the House by way of my Local and Private committee.

"It should be a tremendous benefit to the county."

Frankiewicz said of the bill, "It doesn't do anything to fix the flaws in the Gaming Control Act, but it does give the city additional revenues to deal with the concerns gambling operations will bring."

The bill, which the city council requested in March, calls for the boarding fee to be collected on a monthly basis and the machine/device tax to be collected on an annual basis by the State Tax Commission. The commission will then forward the monies collected to the city, according to Sections 1 and 2 of H.B. 1675.

Favre's contract remains unsettled

BY TRACI BONNEY

The week started well for Brett Favre when he received a call that the Atlanta Falcons had picked him in the NFL draft.

However, by Tuesday the reports were that Favre's agent was contacting a Canadian Football League team about a possible contract.

On Friday, it was still anyone's bet as to the prospects for Favre's immediate future.

The story started Sunday, when the University of Southern Mississippi quarterback heard from the Falcons after a 5 1/2-hour wait that the Atlanta team had chosen him in the second draft round. Favre was chosen 33rd overall.

Disappointed that he wasn't chosen in the first round, Favre nevertheless said he was happy to be picked by the Falcons, his team of choice. He left for Atlanta Monday to meet with Falcon coach Jerry Glanville.

Meanwhile, Favre's agent, Hattiesburg attorney James Cook, was reportedly by the Clarion-Ledger to be in contact with the Toronto Argonauts about a possible CFL contract.

Bay gets Main Street Program

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay St. Louis is now an official Main Street Program city. Clerk of Council Mike Cuevas said the city received notification that it had been accepted into the downtown revitalization program Wednesday. The news was announced to community business and political leaders Friday at the Salute to Business and Industry.

Cuevas, who will be the city's Main Street Program manager, said she, the mayor and the city council will work to compose a 15-member Main Street board to administer the program.

"The board will consist of three members from each voting district and three at-large members," Cuevas said. "The board will formulate the program's goals, start the membership drive, make decisions. My job will be to see that the wishes of the board are carried out as best as is possible."

She added that her duties will be separate from and in addition to her duties as clerk of council.

Cuevas said the state Main Street department will send representatives to Bay St. Louis, possibly in June, for a manager training seminar and to help the board formulate its goals and objectives.

Several aspects of revitalization will be addressed through the Main Street program. Included are design, promotion and even resident recruiting. Cuevas said one of the program's committees will have as its purpose the development of strategies to recruit retirees, especially military ones, to live in Bay St. Louis.

Another area, design, will be very important to the city, she added. "It will probably be the last area to be developed, after the comprehensive zoning study is completed. We want to

Report bad weather damage immediately

Hancock County Public Safety Officer Jim Boudin said the agency is reporting bad weather damage to the county office as soon as possible.

Promptly reported information on the damage between qualifying for federal disaster relief is being handled.

Civil Defense serves as a collecting agency for damage reports," he said. "We turn around and report the damage to the Small Business Administration or FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency)."

He noted SBA offers lower percentage loans based on a certain number of homes or businesses destroyed by disaster. "It's a made-up number," he said. "If you made it a week, you don't need us."

He cited a recent case in Hancock County where a woman was able to help a family due to the large amount of damage.

Storm information is also reported to the National Weather Service, who disseminate it to help others to prepare for dangerous weather.

"Don't call me at 10 to tell me you have a storm," he said. "I want to know how to help you. Now, which way it is, I can warn others."

"Zero in on the time and location and report what you see. It doesn't matter how major or minor the damage is. We want to know."

Boudin can be reached at the Civil Defense office at 467-5412. On weekends or after hours, call the Hancock County Sheriff's Department at 467-5412.

Hancock Jr. High student wins state mathematics competition

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Richard Scott Price Jr., a seventh grade student at Hancock Junior High School, has met the competition in Decatur, Miss., and returned victorious.

Answering 50 math problems in 45 minutes, Price correctly solved 48 of them winning the State Jr. High School Mathematics Contest in the seventh grade division.

"He is doing things my eighth grade algebra students can't do yet," proudly reported Price's math teacher, Billie Shook.

Statewide, over 10,000 seventh grade students competed in the contest, sponsored by the Mississippi Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Before Price reached the halls of Northeast Mississippi Community College in Decatur on April 14 he had to first win a place entry in the district competition at Pearl River Community College on March 19.

Price took the district first place, followed by Bay High student Jason Mauffray.

The two top placed students from each of the 13 participating districts traveled to the state competition making a total of 26 competitors.

Price said he spent 30 minutes a day in the school computer lab reviewing math problems in preparation for the event.

Of the 50 problems, stated Price, the graph linear equations "were probably the hardest."

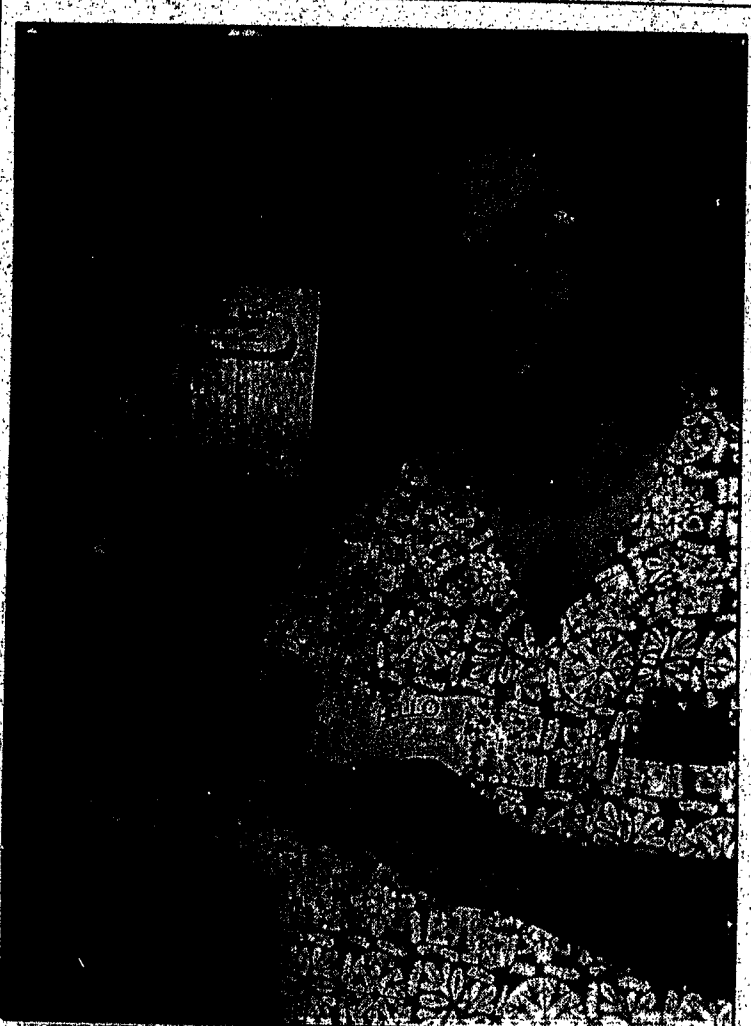

Richard Price Jr.

Other than that, Price confessed to no difficulty with the test.

Describing the most exciting part of the day, Price said, when

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor, Father Justin Furman, ST.

"Let us live that when we come to die, even the undertaker will be sorry."

—Mark Twain

"Life must be lived forwards but can only be understood backwards."

—Soren Kierkegaard

"I took my heart as the Easterners. May the peace of Allah abide with you. Wherever you come, wherever you go, may the beautiful Psalms of Allah grow."

—Unanimous

Father Jude, ST, who celebrated the Holy Youth Mass at St. Ann's last Sunday in the absence of Fr. Justin, would like to thank the CYO members for their participation in the Liturgy, adding to the beauty and solemnity of the Mass. Karen and Raymond Williams and Connie West, adult advisors for the group, are to be congratulated as well as the CYO members themselves.

CCD classes will be in the parish hall immediately following St. Ann's 9:30 a.m. Mass this Sunday.

CYO members will meet 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 1 in the parish hall for their regular weekly meeting.

Don't forget St. Ann-St. John Parish Picnic Sunday, May 5 on the church grounds in Clermont Harbor, immediately following St. Ann's 9:30 a.m. Mass. There will be lots of fun for everyone.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

As I was sloshing about in the stormy weather from one of our area supermarkets to another to ascertain what's coming into the stores these days, and what the best buys are just now, I decided that whatever it is, I'd "buy big" and thus have the makings on hand for several meals, so that I'd be free to spend my time outdoors when the sun finally broke through!

And, for a buy that's "big" both size-wise and money-wise, you won't go wrong on beef brisket, with whole untrimmed boneless brisket (10 to 12 lbs. average) offered at good savings. If that's too big for you, share the purchase with a friend, or cut the brisket and freeze part for future use.

If and when your yard dries up enough to use the barbecue pit or grill, you can enjoy barbecued brisket. Or, you may prefer a pot roast simmered on atop the stove while you indulge in a nap or lounge in comfort with that book you've been meaning to read and enjoy!

And, of course, there's always a hearty vegetable soup. Soup isn't just for winter days, is it? To my taste, soup and bread suppers—especially when the bread's hot, crusty French bread with butter—are good, good all year round.

Beef boneless chuck roasts are also a good buy this week, as are beef chuck steaks, and beef stew meat. And, let's not overlook that good buy in whole picnic hams. I simmer mine awhile, then coat with honey and mustard, mixed together and baste with red wine as it bakes another while.

You can also find jars of honey mustard on the market shelves (as well as other varieties, for flavor changes). Have you tried the jalapeno mustard? It really sparks a ham or roast beef sandwich!

Another good buy (talk about going from "big" to "small") are Cornish hens, weighing just 12 ounces or so. Whole fryers and baking hens are also good and tasty buys just now.

But it's the fresh vegetables and fresh fruits which call my attention these Spring days, all but spilling over the bins. Those new crops of Georgia's sweet Vidalia onions is in, and so is Florida's new crop of yellow corn. Artichokes are in good supply, and somewhat down in price, as are green onions.

With the emphasis on healthful foods these days, fresh vegetables are a boon, and delicious as well. Heads of iceberg lettuce are specially priced, and there are lots of other varieties, along with fresh spinach, for your salads.

And, oh those fruits of Spring! So good, and so good for you! For a delicious and easy salad, try:

MIXED FRUIT SALAD
1 medium cantaloupe (1½ lbs.) halved, seeded, sliced 1/4-inch thick and peeled

2 medium naval oranges, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch cubes
2 medium bananas, peeled sliced and sprinkled with 2 tsp. lemon juice to prevent darkening

1 cup sliced strawberries
1 cup seedless green grapes
1/4 cup plain low-fat yogurt
1/3 cup orange juice
1 Tbsp. Honey
1½ tsp. grated orange rind
1 Tbsp. minced fresh mint (optional)

Arrange the cantaloupe, oranges, bananas, strawberries and grapes attractively on a large platter, cover with plastic wrap and chill in the refrigerator until ready to serve.

In small bowl, whisk together the yogurt, orange juice, honey, orange rind, and, if you like, the mint. Transfer to a small pitcher and chill until ready to serve. Pass dressing separately. (4 servings)—from Reader's Digest "Great Recipes for Good Health" Cookbook.

From this excellent book also comes:

SPICY CUCUMBER AND FRUIT SALAD

1/2 medium cantaloupe (3/4 lb.)
1 medium cucumber, peeled and sliced 1/4-inch thick
1/2 pt. strawberries, hulled and sliced 1/4-inch thick
2 Tbsp. lime juice
1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
2 tsp. minced hot chili peppers or 1/4 tsp. red pepper flakes

2 Tbsp. chopped fresh coriander or 2 Tbsp. minced fresh parsley and 1/2 tsp. ground coriander.

With a melon baller, make 1 cup of cantaloupe balls. Place in medium size bowl, add cucumbers and strawberries, and toss. Stir in the lime juice, vegetable oil, chili peppers and coriander, and toss again. Spoon the mixture onto salad plates and serve. (4 servings)—from "Great Recipes for Good Health" also.

And also from the same cookbook, here's a quick honey-yogurt dressing for fruit salads. In a small bowl, whisk together a cup of plain low-fat yogurt, 2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons honey and 1/4 teaspoon of ground nutmeg. When it's all well mixed together, store in tightly covered jar in the fridge, and shake well before each use.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I am sure it is of no surprise to anyone of you that my column today will be dealing with the 'belly washer' we had in the area on Thursday morning.

Nature dealt our political leaders a big headache and there really was nothing they could do about it.

It has been some time since I have seen so many streets which had to be closed because of flooding. Cars and trucks were stalled all over the area.

I have received reports of five and six inches of rain in less than one hour, and this was added to our super-saturated grounds.

We do not have the drainage systems in either cities or county to handle this type of heavy rains.

The heavy winds which struck the intersection of Highways 90 and 603 sure caused some traffic problems for over 24 hours.

John Mason at Mason's Exxon said he and his crew was taking cover as some type of twister destroyed his large sign.

I think Mason is still looking for one of his trash cans from his front island of pumps.

The McDonald's arches took a beating too.

I felt for those Waveland patrolmen who had to direct traffic until the Highway Department finally replaced and repaired the signal lights Friday morning.

I am sure that without the Waveland patrolmen, we would have had untold accidents at the intersection which is the most traveled in both directions in our county.

Waveland police should be commended for a job well done.

Now for the State Highway Department. I would have thought they would have been better prepared to handle an emergency of this type.

True, they tried to address the problems on Thursday, but, it wasn't until Friday they were able to do the repair job.

Even had someone jokingly mention to me, early Friday morning, that the damaged signals could possibly be tied into the Highway 603 project.

So, the State Highway Department keeps plugging along.

Bob Hubbard hasn't been having much luck with a credit line, especially on area maps.

It seems the mapping company has once again left off a credit line for Bob on a photo of his which was used on the front page of the new county maps.

This is the second area map in a row in which one of Bob's photos was used without a credit line.

By the way, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's new maps are available at the chamber's office on Highway 90 next to Gerry Lane Motors.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

M/E/C

Mississippians need to become "good citizens"

Especially because this is an election year in Mississippi, there is an urgent need for citizen participation in government at every level.

A Mississippian becomes a "good citizen" when he or she learns more about government, its proper function, and then works to help elect qualified candidates - following up to be sure those elected meet their obligations and responsibilities.

The Mississippi Economic Council suggests that "a good citizen" make the following commitments:

1. Vote in every election and encourage family members, friends, neighbors and coworkers to vote.

2. Know the issues.

3. Talk with as many candidates as possible to get their views and to give your own.

4. Volunteer to serve on "good government" committees in the chamber of commerce or other civic organizations.

5. Actively support, with volunteer time and with money, candidates found to be qualified.

6. Write letters giving your opinion to public officials at every level of government.

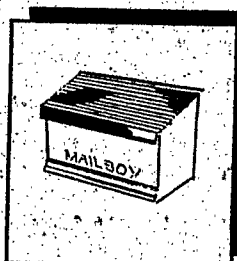

7. Be a leader by encouraging others to make the same commitments.

8. Remember that individual communities, the state, and the nation are strengthened by active participation in government of "good citizens."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RSVP volunteers commended by director

To the Editor:

April 1 marked the 18th anniversary of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program in Hancock County, a program which is a community of talents serving you.

More than 475 RSVP volunteers here in Hancock County contribute some 96,000 hours each year by volunteering in different activities in the county.

RSVP is a program of ACTION, the federal domestic volunteer agency which helps provide over 450,000 volunteers each year to public and private non-profit agencies who serve as sponsors.

RSVP offers those age 60 and over a meaningful life in retirement through community volunteer service allowing them to serve on a regular basis in a variety of settings. Experience of a lifetime thus continues after retirement and allows us all to gain from the generosity of these seniors.

We are fortunate in this county to have these RSVP volunteers, and we should all take the opportunity to recognize the good work that is being done.

The Retired-Senior Volunteer Program will continue to be a vital community-service provider to Hancock County.

Guard reserves continue to serve in Saudi Arabia

Dear Editor:

I am a Mississippi National Guardsman with the 1355th S & S Company. I am part of the many brave men and women who represented our country boldly in Operation Desert Shield and Operation Desert Storm.

Contrary to popular belief of the regular military service men and women, we have met every objective, accomplished every mission, and we have done it with excellence thus far.

The war ended February 28. It is now April 19 here in Saudi Arabia. Approximately 45 percent of the U.S. troops who served in this war are still here for reasons I understand. It was said that all U.S. troops who served in the Gulf will be sent home on a first come, first leave basis.

This order of deployment is not what is being done with the reserve components of the military. For some reason, unknown, the reserve components of the military are being taken advantage of.

Of the 250,000 troops remaining in Saudi Arabia, approximately two-thirds of them consist of National Guard and Reserve men and women. Also, I have found that many of these reserve component units have been here since August or September and, like us, have acquired new missions with will prolong our stay here.

For the most part, the missions given to us, at this stage, are jobs for us to do while we wait for more regular military service men and women to out process for deployment.

I do not understand the logic in this. Men and women of the reserve components have jobs along with the daily routine of civilian life.

Many of us are losing a great deal of money, and our families suffer. Some parents here in Saudi Arabia have their children in private schools and/or college. I am a college student myself. I have missed two semesters already.

Regular military service men and women are meeting the responsibilities of their regular jobs. They suffer no financial losses whatsoever, yet they are first priority to go home. The men and women here of the reserve components are not paying taxes as long as they stay in Saudi Arabia. Also, the government must continue to pay us regular active duty pay. The regular military service men and women get paid by "Uncle Sam" the same whether they are here or in the States.

I do not understand the logic in this. I had the silly notion that the reserve components of the military would be first priority for deployment because of said reasons. I was wrong indeed.

I was proud to serve my country during this crisis. I feel it was my duty as a National Guardsman, but the war is over now, and our jobs and families need us home.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Alderman's motives for dissent questioned

To the Editor:

Who is creating a smokescreen?

It appears in recent articles condemning Waveland Mayor Stella Frilot, it is alderman Stan Weidman who is trying to create a smokescreen. It really angers me, as a Waveland businessman, that our mayor is getting criticized for the wonderful accomplishments she has made in such a very short time.

This one alderman criticized city spending on the much needed renovations, citing sewer problems in his district; at the same meeting he criticized the mayor's use of her authority for having emergency sewer repairs taken care of when desperately needed. What does he want? Maybe he is creating a smokescreen to get personal attention for himself!

As a businessman in Waveland, I along with many other citizens and professional people applaud Mrs. Frilot's efforts. Since her election our city has received the public attention on TV and in several newspapers that we deserve as a vital and wonderful city on the Coast. This publicity has been great, and now one alderman is trying to destroy all this good publicity unnecessarily. It is obvious to me, if the mayor and the other three aldermen are in agreement on what is necessary to maintain our city and to improve it, they are right, and this dissenter is wrong.

Something further about our new mayor. She works very long hours accomplishing these goals—often until 7 or 8 at night, on Saturdays and Sundays, keeps regular office hours, and is accessible to her constituents, and yet still finds time for countless other civic activities.

Let me give you an example. Several months ago, inadvertently one of our employees left two chairs outside on our front porch. Driving by later that evening (around 7:30 p.m.), our mayor spotted the chairs, understood the error, stopped and put the chairs in her vehicle and returned them to us the next morning. Now how many cities on the Coast, or anywhere, have a mayor as concerned for her citizens as this? Keep up the great work, Mrs. Mayor. We appreciate and support you!

Abortion complications are many; sources quoted by nurse

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to one written by Ms. Mary Trudell wherein she questions the sources I used in an article about abortion.

First of all, let me say that it is not my intention to use our local paper as a forum for a verbal battle with anti-life advocates; however I feel that we have been maligned as providing misinformation.

J. R. Ashton wrote in his research in the British Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology (1980, pp. 114-122) that "almost all of those terminated felt guilt and depression for at least a brief period of time, and 10-30 percent of aborted patients experienced serious, long-term psychiatric problems."

Judith Wallerstein, writing in the Archives of General Psychiatry (Vol. 27, Dec. 1972) said that "it is important to note that the young women in our study have only a 50 percent chance of getting over the abortion experience within 5-7 months. Among those women who experienced difficulties... none of those who were able to be seen again at 14 months post-abortion had improved."

Bruce Blumberg, MD, described a flashback effect which may persist for many months or even years after the procedure usually triggered by objects or events related to child-bearing or babies (American Journal O&G, Aug. 1975, pp. 799-808).

The American Psychological Association Journal does admit to some psychological sequelae following abortion, but usually in those women with a "religious belief." As the U.S. is overwhelmingly Christian in the latest religious poll, this may comprise more than a few individuals.

As for the simple and safe procedure that Ms. Trudell alludes to, Merck Manual

(1982, p. 1706) states that "since the incidence of serious complications and mortality is higher with abortions than with any method of contraception, therapeutic abortion should not be used as a primary method of family planning but should be reserved for failures of contraception or sterilization."

Ann Levin, writing in the American Journal of Public Health (March, 1982, p. 253) concludes that the risk for a subsequent pregnancy is doubled after one abortion and multiplied up to four times after two or more abortions.

Drs. Oser and Persson state that "pelvic infection is a common and serious complication of induced abortion and has been reported in up to 30 percent of all cases" (Am. J. O&G, Nov. 1984, pp. 699-703).

The CDC conducted a study in 1985 concluding that abortion is now the sixth most common cause for maternal death, and furthermore, abortion-related deaths may be under-reported by as much as 50 percent (Am. J. of O&G, May, 1985).

It is not my intention to misinform the women of our community, but rather to provide them information about the most frequently performed surgical procedure on women (Jaffe et al, Abortion Politics, 1981, p. 7) and I can provide many more references than these if they will visit us at the Crisis Pregnancy Center in Waveland where we provide free pregnancy testing, maternity and baby clothes, furniture, and most importantly, love, compassion and support for their situations and their decisions.

Incidentally, even though maternal death rate for first trimester abortions is low, infant death rate is 100 percent.

Sincerely,
Judith Caplinger, RN, BSN

Boat draft rumors hold little water

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Rumors circulating throughout Bay St. Louis of Coast Guard draft requirements being reduced on gaming vessels are "ridiculous," stated State Representative J.P. Compretta in a phone interview late Saturday.

According to Compretta, State Representative H.L. Merideth Jr. introduced resolution 297 to the house rules subcommittee which calls for the revival of House Bill 1597, which died several weeks ago.

"I hope people understand," added Compretta, "that this resolution would have to get out of the rules sub-committee, go on to the rules committee, then pass the House by a two-thirds vote, not just a majority, but two-thirds and then the process would have to be repeated in the Senate just to revive a dead bill. "It is very unlikely."

Compretta reported that the members of the House rules sub-committee he has spoken to, "Have expressed no interest in reviving the bill."

The representative reported that he and several other legislators from the coast had received telephone calls Saturday in "reference to the resolution."

Compretta added that the legislation's main purpose this week is to finish the redistricting plans for the state.

He said the legislature should be finished with the redistricting by today or Monday.

for Favre. According to the Jackson newspaper, Argonaut director of player personnel Nick Volpe said the CFL team has no interest in Favre nor do they own the league's negotiating rights for him.

The article reported that Winnipeg owns CFL rights to Favre.

Neither Favre, who had returned from Atlanta, nor Cook could be reached for comment. However, the USM player's father, Irvin Favre, confirmed the Clarion-Ledger report and answered other questions by telephone from his home on Irvin Favre Road in Kiln.

He said, "Brett's agent felt he needed to open up all avenues of opportunity for Brett."

Mr. Favre said he, his son and Cook are not disappointed at Brett's being chosen by Atlanta, but only that he was not picked in the first round. When asked how much difference in the contract amount there is between a first and a second round selection, Mr. Favre said, "Well, it could be one or two million (dollars)."

He commented that Atlanta took a gamble in the draft because they needed other players in addition to a quarterback, and they still managed to come up with Brett.

While Favre will return to Atlanta next week for a mini-camp, his father and agent are anticipating the news of a contract offer for him, Mr. Favre said.

"We like Atlanta; we want to go with Atlanta. We're expecting to go with Atlanta."

the results were announced they were given in reverse order, so as he did not hear his name called, he became more and more anxious.

"I knew I was in the top three after they called out the others," Price added. "Then I got real excited when they called the second place winner and it wasn't me, I knew then, I had won."

Price had traveled to the competition with his mother.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Price Sr. of Pearlinton.

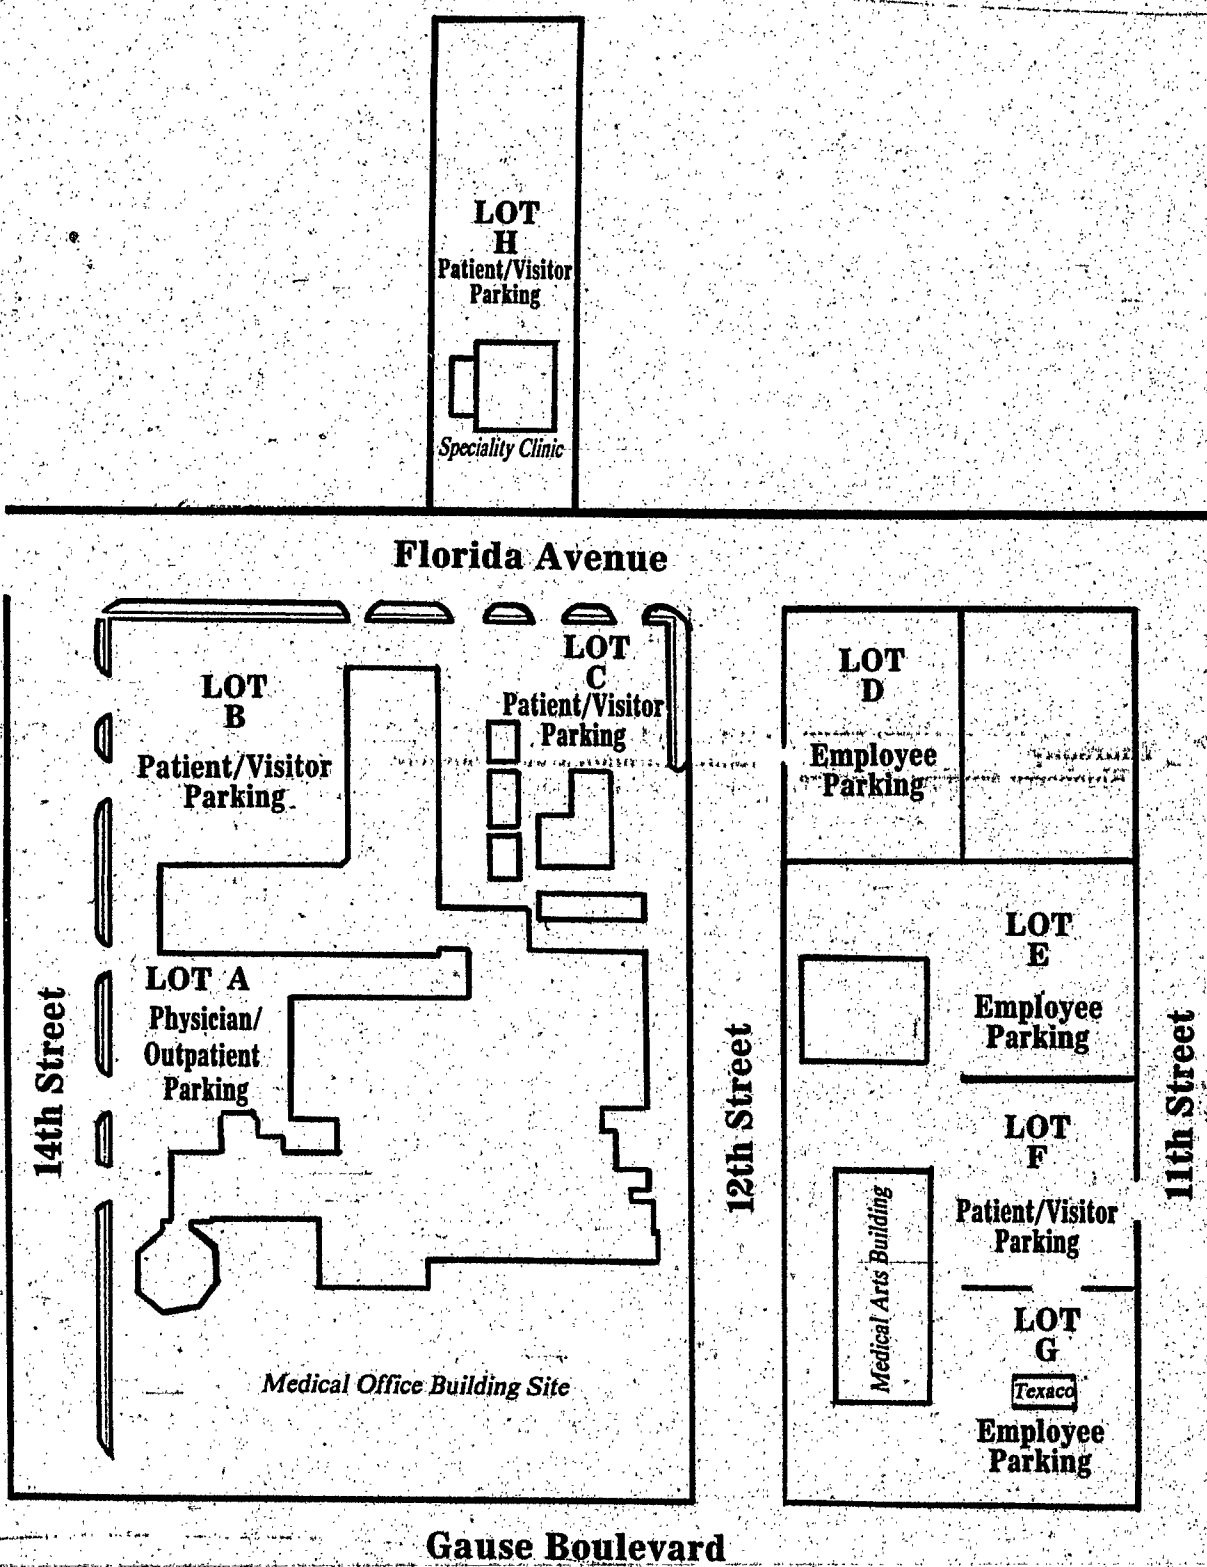

Shook commented that the Hancock County School District was very supportive of their students. "The district paid for the students' expenses where in other districts the parents had to pay for the trip themselves."

Price took home a plaque and a $125 check to be applied towards his college education.

"He is a wonderful young man," Shook added. "He gets along with the other students and teachers. His classmates have cheered him on."

"This was a very difficult test. We are all proud of him."

DESIGNATED PARKING AREAS TO IMPROVE PATIENT/VISITOR PARKING DURING CONSTRUCTION

During the construction of our four-story Medical Office Building and Parking Garage, Slidell Memorial Hospital has taken steps to ensure patient and visitor parking will be adequate and easily accessed on the hospital campus.

Designated parking areas exclusively for patients and visitors have been added on the Florida Avenue side of the Slidell Memorial Hospital campus. All employees will be parking off-campus to provide the maximum number of on-campus parking spots for our patients and visitors.

These changes should ease parking constraints caused by the construction on the Gause Boulevard side of our campus. We want to make every effort to provide convenient parking facilities for our patients and visitors.

Construction of our Medical Office Building and Parking Garage will begin in April and continue through July 1992. As we enter this period of additional growth, we ask your continued support and patience. If you have any questions about the new parking areas, please call our Public Relations Department at (504) 649-8510.

Story Hour titles told

"Pets" is the theme for this week's children's story hour Monday, May 1 at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis. Parents are asked to attend this story hour with their children, since they will be viewing stories on the computer and will need their parents' assistance. Children will make their own color sheets and will meet Ruth Krebs, literacy program coordinator. "Goats" is theme at the Waveland Library Friday, May 3 at 10:30 a.m. "The Boy and the Goats" and "The Three Goats" are books to be read. Children will be singing and viewing finger plays. Weekly children's story hours are held at the City-County Public Library and the Waveland Library from September through May. Programs last approximately one hour. Programs and activities are designed for pre-school-age children, 3-5 years of age who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group. More information may be obtained by calling Karen Peoples at the Waveland Library, 467-9240; or Sandra Ladner, City-County Library, 467-5282.

Favre reunion

Bill Lacy lassos Hugo Favre

A rootin' tootin' time had by some 500 Favre descendants

BY T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

In 1719 Marie Anne Arlu arrived in New Orleans aboard the sailing ship Marechal De Villars. Jean Favre, a soldier, was sent to the city in 1720, courtesy of the French Army.

One can only speculate as to what effect the ambience of that romantic old city may have had on their meeting, though historical records trace a marriage and birth of their first child, Jean Claude Favre, on April 16, 1721.

County real estate records indicate a Favre land transaction in Pearlinton in 1771 and represent the first documentation of the family in Mississippi, according to Beauregard Favre, unofficial "family historian."

The Favre family has grown into one of the largest and most influential on the Gulf Coast. This lineage was celebrated on Sunday, April 21 at the Favre family's second annual reunion.

The event, held at the new Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Road, was attended by almost 500 people, according to Beverly Scianna, who was taking registration at the door.

The attendance might have been even larger, though a large Favre contingent was encamped at the home of local football star Brett Favre, awaiting the results of his NFL draft selection!

For the entertainment of young and old alike, Hugo

Favre of Favreville Express arrived with some 19th century styled transportation. He operates a firm which specializes in original and reproduction horse drawn carriages.

For this event, he brought an old west paddy wagon of the type used to transport prisoners across the Southwest during the frontier days.

Scores of squealing kids took advantage of the rides around the oval track behind the Civic Center building.

The picturesque conveyance is completely lacking in springs, shocks or other suspension components. Over-aged children (like this writer) who accepted Hugo's invitation for a ride, soon found themselves wishing for a tall stack of very soft pillows and a kidney belt!

An outdoor kitchen was assembled to feed the group, with Bay St. Louis gourmand Mayor Eddie Favre manning the deep fryer.

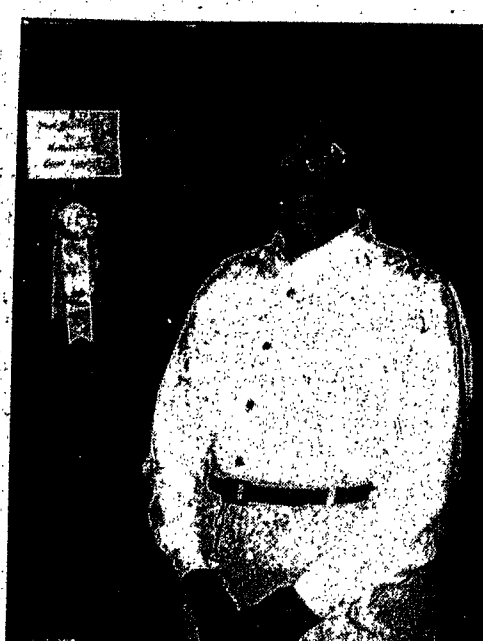

According to organizers, the Favre clan enjoyed 150 pounds of chicken, 12 gallons of baked beans, 100 pounds of potato salad, 30 pounds of hot dogs and 25 pounds of rice.

A contest for the oldest gent was won by Mr. David Wainwright of Waveland. Top honors for oldest lady went to Mrs. Carmella Carcia Gill of Gulfport and a prize was awarded for the couple married the longest time. This went to Ernest and Margerie Johnson, who have been married for 52 years.

Members of the Favre family who would like additional information, or would like to participate in next year's reunion, are invited to contact Beauregard Favre in Gautier at 832-9829.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The bi-annual Miss Lena's Bingwich, hosted by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139, was on Thursday, April 25 at the Legion Home.

Some of the veterans from the Gulfport hospital, the live-ins in the neighborhood, and also veterans from the Hotel Reed Nursing Home attended.

The ladies participated in the bingo games and helped the veterans select their prizes. Following the games, the ladies served refreshments.

Lucille Boudreaux, VACS chairman, and volunteers Clara Arnold, Inez Bouis, Jackie Buffin, Evelyn Burns, Mamie Carver, Shirley Clemons, Genevieve Cole, Thelma Elliott, Ursula Favre, Judy Gavney, Pat Gillan, Jeanette Ladner, Beryl Murtagh, Oris Planchard, Elaine Roberts, Bobbie Tomlinson, Lou Wilkerson, Roslyn Weathers, Hazel Wohlschlegel, Hazel Breland and Janet Aime donated cakes, cookies, sandwiches and other goodies.

There were 40 veterans present who gave a round of applause to show their appreciation. As they were leaving, each veterans was handed a bag of goodies.

The monthly birthday party for the residents of Hotel Reed Nursing Center was Thursday, April 25, co-hosted by Roslyn Weathers and Oris Planchard.

Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano and Roslyn Weathers led the singing as Oris Planchard and Elaine Roberts visited with the residents.

The dining room was decorated with balloons and streamers for the festivities.

While Happy Birthday was sung, the celebrants were handed their gifts, which were received with big smiles. Oris Planchard, Elaine Roberts and volunteer Pat Turnipseed served refreshments, and the residents joined in the singing of the 'oldies but goodies.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

DeJong-Douglas

Mrs. Debra Kirby of Daphne, Ala., announces the engagement of her daughter, Louann DeJong, to Frank Edward Douglas, the son of Bob and Darlene Douglas of Bay St. Louis.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Salmen High School in Slidell, La., and the Academy of Creative Hair Design in Slidell.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Bay High School. He is currently employed at the Diamondhead Quahdrome.

September 28 is the date of the ceremony.

FRANK EDWARD DOUGLAS AND LOUANN DEJONG

Gleber-Asher

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Gleber Jr. of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter, Leslie Maria Gleber, to Terrence C. Asher Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrence C. Asher Sr. of Bay St. Louis.

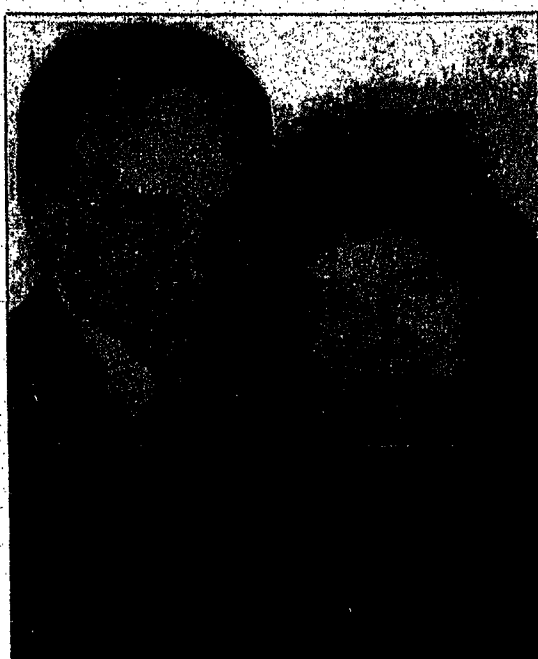

The bride-elect is a graduate of Our Lady Academy. She is currently studying elementary education at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Her grandparents are Mrs. Mercedes L. Gleber of Bay St. Louis and the late Matthew J. Gleber Sr., and Mrs. Leonide Cabell and the late Fred M. Cabell.

The prospective groom is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School and Mississippi State University. He is currently employed as an electrical engineer at Bay Technical Associates in Bay St. Louis.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Asher of Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. Sophie Herlihy of Bay St. Louis and the late Fred L. Herlihy.

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church is the setting of the May 18, 1 p.m. ceremony. A reception will follow.

TERRENCE C. ASHER JR. AND LESLIE MARIA GLEBER

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Learning Ladies

The April meeting of the Learning Ladies Extension Homemakers Club was at Irma May's Alteration Shop on Ulman Avenue. She was the hostess. There were six members and one guest present. Charlotte Edwards, president, called the meeting to order. The creed was read and Pledge of Allegiance recited. There was a moment of silence in thanksgiving that the war is over and hope for peace in the Middle East.

Guest Louise Estapa was introduced. Minutes of the March meeting were read and approved. Reba Echazabal gave the treasurer's report, and a bill for $60 for eye glasses was approved and will be paid. She updated the awards sheet and discussed a letter of thanks received for the club's participation in the A-B-C quilt program.

Reports from some of the chairmen were given, and mention was made that eight members attended the area meeting in d'Iberville. Learning Ladies was awarded a certificate of achievement.

Irma May gave a report on family life, announcing the club would wait until school starts in the fall to get involved in the latch key program.

A report on the March council meeting was discussed. Edwards reminded the members of the State Council meeting in Starkville May 21-23 and urged as many as possible to attend.

Joann Little mentioned plastic items are not being picked up at the recycling center, but she said to hang on to them as they are working on a pickup soon. Also, she said, if we don't take our cans, paper, etc. to the local recycling center in Waveland, they will close.

Yesteryear is scheduled for May 9 at the new building on Long-fellow Road from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call Edna Harrington at 255-2670 for information.

The club is still making bibs and lap robes for the nursing home.

Junior Woman's Club

The Junior Woman's Club of Gulfport will conduct its monthly meeting May 9 at Lynn Meadows Art Center in Gulfport at 9:30 a.m.

Water Safety Day will be Saturday, June 1 from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the College Park Fitness Center, 2204 Swetman Boulevard in Gulfport. Life saving, CPR, dive rescue and boat safety are some of the topics to be discussed.

Super Sitters, a workshop for teens who babysit, will be June 8 at the West Side Community Center from 1-4 p.m. The seminar is sponsored by Memorial Hospital.

The annual fund raiser, Art '91, will be July 20.

Honored

Al Summy of Bay St. Louis was recognized by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America with their Silver Beaver Award for distinguished service to youth. Only one recommendation for every 60 Boy Scout units is allowed for this prestigious award.

Page-James

Mary and Andrew Page Jr. of Shaw announce the engagement of their daughter, Creola Nannette Page, to Rogers "Kevin" James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers L. James of Catahoula.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Shaw High School and Mississippi Valley State University, where she was a member of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority. She is presently employed as a day-care teacher in Indianapolis, Ind.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Bay High School and Mississippi Valley State University, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, was included on the honors' list and was Distinguished Military Student in 1989. He is a 2nd lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

Saturday, May 11, is the date of the 5 p.m. ceremony at the Promiseland Recreation Center. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Hancock Booster Club meets May 1

We should protect our heritage of gardening

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Mississippi vegetable gardeners are planting their 1991 gardens, and as in previous years, there is no way to tell how many gardens will be planted or what the total acreage for the state will be. Let it suffice to say, there will be many thousands of gardens (there are more than 700,000 households in the state) occupying many acres.

Mississippians are traditionally gardeners, which results from time when the state was more rural and families looked to themselves for the food they ate. Gardening is a fine tradition, one to be proud of and one to carry on.

During World Wars I and II, the Great Depression, floods, and more recently during times of high inflation, Mississippians ate well in the 1970s because they grew what they ate and weren't dependent on grocery stores for their food.

The good soils, plenty of water and moderate climate that make gardens so productive are also considered assets favoring the commercial production of vegetables in the state.

Over the years many vegetables have been commercially produced. In 1990, there were approximately 46,000 acres of commercial vegetables grown in the state.

Some 25 years ago there was expectation that the state's commercial vegetable acreage would show a considerable increase as western production areas, principally California, dried up.

Well, California didn't dry up as quickly as some people thought it would, but recent reports from that state indicate that it is much drier now than it was in 1965.

Faced with the fifth year of serious drought conditions, reports from California indicate the ag industry, regardless of all the advances in farm and irrigation technology, is faced with a major problem.

This trouble can have impact on food prices at the grocery store when California's share of total U.S. production is considered. We must face the fact that California is the state producing the major share of much of what we buy. The state leads the United States in producing 68 crop and livestock commodities.

A recent special issue in "The Packer," the weekly newspaper of the fresh fruit and vegetable industry that highlighted California, gave them credit for the following percentages of U.S. production: almonds, 100; apricots, 98; artichokes, 100; asparagus, 44; avocados, 86;

Broccoli, 90; brussels sprouts, 95; cantaloupes, 49; carrots, 58; cauliflower, 77; celery, 72; dates, 100; figs,

100; garlic, 81; lima beans, 28; green onions, 48;

Greenhouse vegetables, 26; herbs, 61; honeydew melons, 79; kiwifruit, 10; lemons, 81; lettuce, 76; mustard greens, 17; nectarines, 97; olives, 100; onions, 27; parsley, 30; Peaches, 65; persimmons, 98; pistachios, 100; plums, 83; pomegranates, 100; prunes, 100; raisins, 100; spinach, 29; strawberries, 75; table grapes, 96; vegetable and flower seeds, 38; walnuts, 100.

These are percentages of U.S. production, and we know that much of the fresh fruit vegetables eaten during late fall, winter and spring is imported mostly from Central and South America.

In addition to its current water problems, California's fruit and vegetable industry is faced with other problems. Declining land area and air pollution are just two of them. According to the Packer article, 700,000 people

CATARACTS

Did you know that cataracts, which cause clouding on the eye's lens, are one of the leading causes of blindness, accounting for about 15 percent of all vision loss? Cataracts are responsible for more than 3.5 million cases of vision impairment and they can develop at any age... babies have even been born with them.

Each year more than 1.4 million cataract operations, the only way to remove cataracts, are performed annually.

The Mississippi Educational Television Network will broadcast live a cataract removal procedure beginning at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 1.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Annunciation Senior Citizens

The senior citizens of Annunciation Parish held their monthly covered-dish luncheon on Wednesday, April 17 at noon in the parish center. There were 27 members present. A delicious buffet, desserts and soft drinks were served and enjoyed by all in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Garft brought a TV to the luncheon and showed a video tape of the senior citizens' trip April 9 to the Saint Benedict Abbey, lunch at the Seafood World restaurant and the strawberry capital, Pontchartroula, La.

Blood pressures were taken by Elina Harrington. Members celebrating April birthdays were Sandra Edwards and Mabel Moran.

Following the luncheon, games were played and door prizes awarded.

Next luncheon will be May 22. All senior citizens are welcome to attend these luncheons held each month.

Call the rectory or Estelle Depreo for information.

Pass Christian Senior Citizens

The Pass Christian Senior Citizens Center had its monthly birthday luncheon Wednesday, April 24 at the center's building on West Second Street. There were 21 active members and 14 guests present.

Mrs. Gussis (Babe) McKay was the only member celebrating an April birthday. Rubin Mills, guest, led everyone in singing Happy Birthday.

Special guests attending were Supervisor David LaRosa, Mayor Ted Lawyer, Barbara Talley, RSVP ladies Pat Harvey, Beth Green and Madeline Korff, H. P. Singleton, assistant chief of police Tony Johnson, Charles Bates of VFW Post 5931, Steely Beard, Tommy Pickich, Clarence Tennette, Rubin Mills and Wallace Webb.

A delicious buffet luncheon, many desserts and ice tea were enjoyed by all.

The center is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. All senior citizens are invited to attend by the director, Mrs. Mae Parker. For information about the center activities call 452-3314.

Date of the May buffet will be announced at the center.

Kiln VFW Auxiliary 6285

The April 16 meeting of the Kiln Auxiliary to VFW Post 6285 was at the Post Home followed by a joint chicken-fish supper with post members.

President Estelle Depreo opened the meeting with 23 members present. Susie Harmon, chaplain, read the opening prayer, and the Pledge of Allegiance was recited.

Motion from the floor to dispense with the regular meeting and move ahead with the election of officers for the 1991-92 year was accepted and approved.

Officers elected were Estelle Depreo, president; Aloise Shiyou, senior vice president; Mildred Lee, junior vice president; Bessie Neacise, treasurer; Susie Harmon, chaplain; Mabel Moran, conductress;

Nell Sanford, guard; Anna M. Cuevas, three-year trustee; Luvie Ladner, two-year trustee and Ethel Neacise one-year trustee.

Auxiliary chairmen appointed were: cancer aid research, Sue Richards; community activities, Luvie Ladner; VFW National Home, Verdile Kilnino; Political Action report, Mabel Moran; Hospital and VAC, Jackie Moody; Buddy Poppy, Vera Ramsey; Teresa M. Dunhurst and Lilly Shavers, flag bearers; and Anna M. Cuevas, banner bearer.

The meeting adjourned with the closing prayer. Next meeting will be May 21 at 7 p.m. at the Post Home.

Hancock County Farm Bureau to open branch office May 1

Farm Bureau Insurance companies announce the opening of a new branch office located in Colonial Plaza, Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis. The Hancock County Farm Bureau presently serves approximately 2,500 members in the county.

According to local board president Aubin Harris, "The branch office will help better serve our members in the Southern part of the county and also help obtain new membership in that area."

Farm Bureau is a multi-line insurance company specializing in home, auto, life and health insurance.

"At one time Farm Bureau Insurance primarily served the needs of rural members, but times have changed and we want the public to know that we offer very competitive rates in the city limits, and we are hoping to achieve this goal with our new office," said Harris.

The new office is scheduled to open for business on May 1. Hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

LOCAL BRIEF

move to California annually and about 75,000 acres of agricultural land is lost to urbanization.

In 1988, only 6.9 million acres of irrigated farmland remained in California. Reduced yields, stunted plant growth and leaf damage, credited to air pollution, is estimated to cost the San Joaquin Valley's $8 billion agriculture industry between $150 million and $300 million annually.

We as Mississippians shouldn't be oblivious to what is going on in California. Their loss in production may someday be our gain. In the meantime we need to keep tradition of gardening strong by continuing to grow some of what we eat and by seeing that our children and grandchildren learn how to garden. We don't want to raise a generation ignorant of the land and how to make it grow something to eat.

Chronic Fatigue Syndrome or Fibrositis?

Nearly everyone has heard something about the Chronic Fatigue Syndrome (CFS). It seems to be in the news a lot, and the news doesn't always seem good.

Basically the syndrome is, as the name implies, marked by a profound sense of tiredness. Not only after a day of work, but even in the morning. In fact, the sensation of fatigue may be so overwhelming that going to work at all may become nearly impossible.

There are many other symptoms that are common, such as muscle aches, swollen lymph glands, chronic weakness and of course, depression. Sleep problems are also frequent.

There are also theories about what causes this syndrome. Some believe the possibility of chronic Epstein-Barr Virus (EBV) or Cytomegalovirus (CMV) playing a role. While these are only theoretical explanations, they have attracted a lot of attention in the media. Unfortunately, and here's where the news isn't always good, there is no real treatment for these viruses.

Fibrositis or Fibromyalgia is a very common syndrome treated very frequently by rheumatologists. Patients are often referred to the rheumatologist after the initial evaluation fails to find an explanation for the patients' complaints. These complaints are almost identical to those of CFS patients, leading many experts to believe that they may be the same disease. Fortunately, there are good treatments available for Fibromyalgia and many patients report cures!

If you or someone you know is suffering with these problems, we may be able to help. Ask your family doctor for a referral or call our office for an appointment.

Hancock County Port & Harbor Board of Supervisors and Hancock County Chamber of Commerce

Waveland Business of the Year

Peterman's L'il Super Food Store

Pearl and Fred Peterman are natives of Harvey, La., and moved to Waveland in 1970.

They purchased the L'il Super Food Store in January 1970 from Fred's grandparents, and by the end of that year, they had added the liquor store and laundromat. This has been a family business since its inception, and is going strong today. The L'il Super offers all sorts of boiled seafood as well as Deli items and complete meals.

Pearl and Fred have both been very active in St. Clare Parish activities, as well as St. Clare School.

The Petermans are the parents of six children and grandparents of nine.

Ronald Cuevas, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, presents the county's Award of Excellence to George Graves, manager of Hancock Industries. The award was from the Hancock County Port & Harbor, Board of Supervisors and Chamber of Commerce's annual Salute to Business and Industry banquet held Friday at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Diamondhead Business of the Year

MAR Incorporated

MAR Incorporated's local office has grown from a staff of two in 1986 to an organization of 54 scientists, engineers and technicians under the management of the Director, Oceanography Center, Jerry Reshew, a Diamondhead resident of 12 years.

MAR employees have worked on 45 different projects since 1986 and are now operating the super computer center at the Naval Oceanographic Office—the largest computer in this country.

Established in 1971, MAR Incorporated is a research and development organization with expertise in the physical sciences of acoustics, communications, electronics and Naval ship systems engineering. The company's corporate headquarters is located in Rockville, Md.

Hancock Industries

Award of Excellence

George Graves graduated from Loyola University in New Orleans in 1966 and was drafted into the U.S. Army that same year. He served in Vietnam as an Infantry Company Commander with the 25th Infantry Division. During his post-Vietnam years, he acquired a Mississippi Teachers' Certificate in health and physical education for the handicapped and began work with the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center in 1979 with the opening of Hancock Industries in Bay St. Louis.

In 1979, Graves helped to start up Hancock Industries, which is a workshop for mentally handicapped citizens of Hancock County. Hancock Industries' first location was a 2,000-square-foot building on Highway 90.

After two and a half years, the business outgrew that facility and moved to the vacant 4,000-square-foot Jitney Jungle building where it operated for four years. Because a majority of its business was from East New Orleans, Hancock Industries moved into a 6,000-square-foot building at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

Very soon thereafter, that facility proved to be too small and Hancock Industries moved into a new, custom-designed building. Once again, production demands required expansion, and Hancock Industries now occupies the original 6,000-square-foot building plus the new 10,000-square-foot facility which houses its offices.

Hancock County Business and Industry

Sponsored By:

Port and Harbor Commission, Hancock County
Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Retail Business of the Year

The Princess Shoppe

Princess Fahey opened her ladies' apparel shop, The Princess Shoppe, for business on Ulman Avenue in 1970. At their current location in Bay Plaza, Princess and daughter-in-law Jane Ann Fahey continue to operate this successful family business. The store expertly outfits its many customers from head to toe with everything from sportswear to formal wear, accessories, and even bridal apparel. Regular customers come from as far away as New York to find just the right purchase and experience the store's warm hospitality.

Princess and Jane Ann established the Teen Board in 1982 to teach proper etiquette and grooming to young women. The success of this group is renowned, and a highlight of its accomplishments was winning Seventeen Magazine's annual award over several hundred other teen boards around the country. Members of the Teen Board regularly present fashion shows and donate all proceeds to charitable causes.

In addition to impeccable service and quality merchandise, a hallmark of the Princess Shoppe is the good will of Princess and Jane Ann. These two businesswomen are known for their quiet generosity and kindness toward those in need.

The Princess Shoppe is an outstanding member of the county's business community, and Princess and Jane Ann Fahey are to be commended for their many contributions to the citizens of this community.

Bay St. Louis Businesses of the Year

The historic Beach Boulevard District of Bay St. Louis has enjoyed a renaissance of business development through the efforts of four local entrepreneurs who pooled resources and talents to produce new businesses and major property restorations and building improvements. The four gentlemen are Philip LaGrange, Ed Jurkowski, Herbert Pursley and John Harris.

La Grange purchased the former Arceneaux Service Station on Beach Boulevard and Court Street; Pursley completed the interior and exterior renovations, turning this formerly neglected and vacant building into a thriving enterprise of four businesses.

Jurkowski and Harris, owners of Antiques and Goodies Galore, located in the Kern building on Main Street, moved their operations to a new location, which includes Antiques and Goodies, Royal Plum Gift Shop, Court Street Cuisine and Ferrara Lamps.

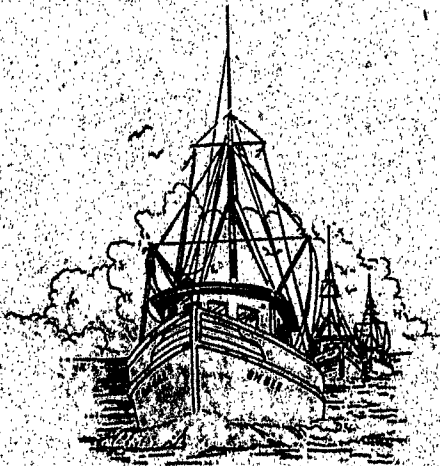

The overwhelming success of their first venture led to the purchase and renovation of the former Dollar Store located on the corner of Beach Boulevard and Main Street by the four. Again, Pursley did the interior design, which includes spaces for eight businesses. Currently, The Antiquarian occupies two spaces. Marion Whittington's Jewelry and Herbert Allen Interiors are also tenants. Four spaces remain for future enterprises.

In addition to these two major developments, LaGrange and Pursley operate Cedar Haven Antiques on Beach Boulevard, which underwent major restoration prior to its opening. Pursley is also responsible for the facade and interior improvements to Herbie's Beauty Salon.

Members of the group will be expanding operations in the near future to the former Blue Rose Restaurant on Scenic Drive in Pass Christian.

Letter from the Director

1991 marks the fifth year that Hancock County has officially recognized outstanding members of our business and industry community for their contributions to the county's economy and quality of life.

The annual Salute to Business and Industry program provides a means of honoring a small group of companies and individuals for their accomplishments.

But the salute is also designed to commend all of Hancock County's businesses and industries which provide employment for our citizens and a solid economic base for the entire county.

Economic development involves attracting new industries and supporting established businesses, and it requires the continuous efforts of local officials and the citizens of Hancock County to continue to improve our labor supply, educational systems, transportation network and other support services that are directly tied to our economic future.

AIDS Task Force recommends condom dispensers

Mandatory installation of condom dispensers in public restrooms to prevent the spread of AIDS has been recommended by the Western Division of the South Mississippi AIDS Task Force.

In a letter to state Health Officer Dr. Alton B. Cobb this week, the organization urges that the Mississippi Department of Health require condom dispensers in men's and women's restrooms in nightclubs, bars, service stations and truck stops.

"Not only would such dispensers make readily available the only means of prevention of HIV virus infection through sexual contact, but they would be constant reminders of the need for protection from sexually transmitted diseases and unplanned pregnancies," said Edith Back, the organization's coordinator. "Mississippi has the dubious distinction of having the nation's highest rate of teenage pregnancies and is experiencing an alarming increase in the number of AIDS cases, particularly among teenagers," Back said.

The Task Force affiliate has also written to Dr. James O. Mason, director of the Centers for Disease Control, asking that he encourage all state health departments in the nation to require condom dispensers in public restrooms.

The Western Division of the South Mississippi Task Force serves Hancock County and the Pass Christian area of Harrison County, offering services to persons with AIDS and HIV infections and preventive education among teenagers and adults.

For more information, call the center at 467-9292 from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Blood Pressure

Retired Senior Volunteer Program sponsors free blood pressure testing Tuesdays, 9:30-11:30 a.m., American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland; Wednesdays, 10:30-11:30 a.m., RSVP office, Senior Citizens Center, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary (Pink Ladies) conducts free blood pressure testing at the hospital, 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays.

Legal Line

Volunteer attorneys answer legal questions from the general public from 6 to 7 p.m., first Wednesdays at 1-374-4160. The service is sponsored by Harrison County Young Lawyers, South Mississippi Planning and Development District Area Agency on Aging and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

Money Management

The Consumer Money Management Center serves the public by providing free financial consultations as well as informational literature and seminars for employers, educational institutions and civic and professional groups.

Information and assistance from the center relates to various aspects of personal money management including budgeting, credit repayment, insurance, and investments.

The service is sponsored by Mississippi State University and Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. To set up an appointment call Hancock County Extension Office, 467-5456.

Senior Citizens Center

Located in the Valena C. Jones Bldg. at 301 Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis, the center serves Hancock County citizens 60 plus years of age.

Under the Hancock County Human Resource Agency, the center provides classes in ceramics, macrame, art, quilting, counted cross stitch, silk flowers, Christmas ornaments, framing, wood working and various other crafts. A morning snack is provided with donations from various clubs and businesses.

The center has a contract to provide 30 home delivered meals a day to those seniors who cannot provide for themselves, and 35 meals for those who have a need for a hot well-balanced meal daily in the cafeteria at the center.

Transportation is provided through a contract with Coast Area Transportation for most seniors in the county to bring them into the center, or to take them to the grocery, doctor, etc.

The contract with Methodist Senior Services provides two homemakers for about two hours a week to homebound, needy seniors to do light house-keeping or errands for them.

For more information, call the center at 467-9292 from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

American Cancer Society

Assistance to victims of cancer is available through Hancock and Harrison county chapters of the American Cancer Society.

Necessary items for patients, such as dressings, ostomy and sickroom supplies are available to those in need. Equipment which may be loaned to patients includes wheelchairs and hospital beds.

Assistance is available for transportation to qualifying hospitals.

Several rehabilitation programs are offered, including "Reach To Recovery", in which volunteers who have had mastectomies visit new breast cancer patients (with approval of physician) to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Support programs are also available to ostomy and laryngectomy patients.

American Cancer Society service request forms are available by contacting the Gulfport office at 896-7024.

Jobs for Mississippi Graduates

Seniors at Hancock High School who plan to go directly to work after graduation may enroll in the Jobs for Mississippi Graduates Program (JMG), for assistance in locating quality jobs after graduation.

The program, which is one of six in the state, seeks to enhance employability skills.

For additional information, contact Mark France at Hancock High School at 467-2251.

S. Mississippi AIDS Task Force

The Western Division of the South Mississippi AIDS Task Force sponsors a support group for persons with AIDS and another for their loved ones and caretakers from Hancock County and west Harrison County. For details, call Edith Back at 467-2445 or Betty Brunner at 467-8589.

Parkinson's Support Group

A Parkinson's Support Group meets the second Sunday of each month in the main dining room at Garden Park Community in Gulfport at 2 p.m.

Parkinson's is a serious illness named after Dr. James Parkinson, a London physician who was the first to describe it in 1817. Records show it affects about one out of every 100 people over the age of 60.

There is no cure, however it is not a fatal illness and the cause remains a mystery.

For information, call A. R. Hanemann at 467-0307.
